

TAKING A STEP BACK FROM WEED? HERE'S HOW TO STAY BUSY IN HANOVER

When you take a step back from weed, it can feel like there's suddenly a lot of extra time in your day - and not always enough ideas to fill it. That's where distractions come in. Finding things that feel good, keep you busy, and help you focus on something new can make all the difference.

We've put together a list of some of our favorite things to do in Hanover and on campus to help you stay on track during your break. Whether you're in the mood for fresh air, a creative project, or just something fun, there's plenty here to keep you moving forward.

Nature & Outdoors

Pine Park

Escape to 93 acres of serene trails, towering pines, and scenic overlooks just 15 minutes from campus.

Velvet Rocks Shelter

Hit the Appalachian Trail for a chill 3.6-mile round-trip hike perfect for day trips or an overnight vibe.

School Street Meditation Garden

Find your zen with river views, cool stacked rock art, and poetic journal notes in a hidden gem.

Arts & Creativity

Donald Claflin Jewelry Studio

Get crafty in the Black Family Visual Arts Center—tools are free, so just bring your creative spark (and pay for materials).

Book Arts Workshop

Dive into creative projects using typewriters and calligraphy tools in Baker Library's artsy basement.

Hood Museum of Art

Soak in global art pieces that inspire and spark creative daydreams between classes.

CULTURAL & COMMUNITY EXPERIENCES

Nugget Theater

Catch indie flicks or blockbusters in a quaint local cinema that's perfect for a campus escape.

Briggs Opera House (White River Junction)

Enjoy intimate plays and musical acts that make for a classy cultural night out.

WHY DISTRACTIONS MATTER

Let's be real: staying busy is one of the best ways to make a break from weed easier. New experiences and hobbies give you something else to focus on, and before you know it, the time flies by. Think of it as an opportunity to explore, grow, and maybe even find a new favorite thing while you're on your break.

FOOD & COFFEE BREAKS

Umpleby's Bakery & Café

Savor house-baked bread and creative sandwiches with a side of outdoor seating charm.

The Nest Kitchen

Sip on unique herbal teas and dig into all-day breakfast delights—perfect for tea lovers seeking a cozy break.
