

30 Days to Reset & Rebalance

MY 30 DAYS BREAK

☐ 01	☐ 02	☐ 03	☐ 04	☐ 05	☐ 06	☐ 07	☐ 08	☐ 09	☐ 10
☐ 11	☐ 12	☐ 13	☐ 14	☐ 15	☐ 16	☐ 17	☐ 18	☐ 19	☐ 20
☐ 21	☐ 22	☐ 23	☐ 24	☐ 25	☐ 26	☐ 27	☐ 28	☐ 29	☐ 30

✓ Reflection Starters:

"My main reason for exploring this break is..."

.....

"Creatively, I'm hoping to explore or achieve..."

.....

"Beyond music, I'm also curious about exploring..."

.....

✓ Common Reasons Musicians Explore a Break

Musical Reasons:

Getting unstuck creatively

Finishing and releasing more music

Exploring authentic inspiration

Boosting performance & stage presence

Ideas to Consider for Goals

Improving sleep & energy

Better emotional well-being & clarity

Enhancing personal relationships

Improving daily productivity & focus

✓ Creative Milestone Check-Ins

Day 10: "What's the biggest surprise you've noticed so far (musically or personally)?"

.....

Day 20: "What's been challenging, creatively or in life—and how have you navigated it?"

.....

Day 30: "What shifted most clearly in your music, mindset, or day-to-day life?"

.....

NEED EXTRA SUPPORT?

Find guides, community discussions, and daily check-ins at
www.clear30.org

FOLLOW US ON

Thriving Through Your 30-Day Reset: Real Tools for Musicians

✓ 30-Day Weed Break Overview:

Taking a weed break isn't always easy—but it can be worth it. Here's what really helps, based on experiences from musicians who've been there.

STICKING WITH YOUR BREAK & MANAGING CRAVINGS

Make It Easy on Yourself

- Clear Your Space
Put it away. Out of sight, less urge.
- Tell People
Be real. A quick heads-up helps.
- Fill Your Time
Plan stuff—sessions, hangs, projects.
- Keep Creating
Play anyway. Let the music guide you.

Sticking With Your Break: Realistic Ways to Say No

- "Just seeing what it's like to create without it."
- "Taking a short break, clearing my head."
- "Laying off for now, nothing major."
- Remember Your Why
Mental clarity? Better focus? Creative push? Hold on to that.

Manage Cravings

- 2-Minute Rule
Grab your guitar, text a friend, make coffee—just do something.
- Creative Distractions
Keep your tools close—turn craving into creating.

Expect Ups & Downs – Don't Beat Yourself Up

- ✓ Mood Swings? Totally normal. Walk it off, vent it out, talk to someone.
- ✓ Creativity Dip? It'll pass. Ride the wave.
Slipped Up? Reset. Don't spiral.

If Cold Turkey Feels Too Hard, Consider a Taper

- If you're worried about going all-in on 4/21, you can start cutting back now.
- Reducing slowly before 4/21 can make the transition easier.

Sleep & Recovery—Realistic Tips

- Sleep Might Feel Rough at First:
"Expect trouble sleeping at the start. Don't panic your body's just adjusting."
- Realistic Sleep Routines:
"Try boring routines like reading, podcasts, dim lighting to signal sleep."
- Consider Simple Aids:
If sleep's tough, try melatonin or calming audio (like ambient music or podcasts) to ease you in.

Find Support & Community

Online Guides & Resources: clear30.org/guides

Reddit Support Communities:

- 👤 r/petioles : For moderating use & exploring your relationship with cannabis.
- 👤 r/leaves : For those quitting or taking a longer-term break.

Take a break from weed
with Clear30

NEED EXTRA SUPPORT?

Find guides, community discussions, and daily check-ins at
www.clear30.org

FOLLOW US ON

Creative Exploration—"Your Music, Your Way"

Creative Soundcheck: How Does Weed Change Your Music?

As an artist, your greatest tool is curiosity. Let's play with creativity to see what cannabis really brings to your music—and what happens when it's not there. Treat this like a jam session—no judgment, just exploration.

✓ Jam Session Journals

Music WITH Weed

- What felt best about creating with cannabis?

- What vibe did your music have?

Music WITHOUT Weed

- What stood out creating without cannabis?

- What new vibes emerged?

NEED EXTRA SUPPORT?

Find guides, community discussions, and daily check-ins at
www.clear30.org

FOLLOW US ON

Beyond the Studio: You, Weed, & Life

You know how cannabis influences your music—but what about the rest of your life? This is your space to notice and reflect openly about how

When does weed improve my day-to-day life?

When does weed negatively impact or slow down my everyday life?

What's something unexpected I realized about my cannabis use beyond making music?

Inspired Action

You've done some deep reflection—now, let's remix your routine. What's one intentional change you'd like to explore in your cannabis use, either creatively or personally? Write down what you're thinking clearly here.

Want to push yourself creatively? Choose one way to change your usual routine—musically, personally, or both. It could mean creating without weed, trying a new genre, or shaking up your daily habits. Write down your creative challenge here!

NEED EXTRA SUPPORT?

Find guides, community discussions, and daily check-ins at
www.clear30.org

FOLLOW US ON

Continuing Your Journey: Music & Cannabis, Your Way

- ✓ You've completed your 30-day break—amazing job. Now it's time to think clearly about what's next. Whatever you decide, let your creativity, well-being, and goals guide you.

YOUR OPTION (CHOOSE YOUR OWN PATH):

Keep the Break Going

- If you've loved how you've felt without cannabis, consider continuing your break.
- Quick Tip: Schedule check-ins to reflect on ongoing benefits.

Use Weed Intentionally for Creative Sessions

- Return selectively—only for special or planned creative moments.
- Quick Tip: Set clear, intentional sessions to keep your use meaningful.

Moderate Your Use Mindfully

- Aim to reduce your overall cannabis use—choose less potent strains and fewer sessions.
- Quick Tip: Regularly reflect to keep moderation feeling right for you.

Return to Your Previous Pattern (With Awareness)

- Feel good about your previous cannabis use? You might comfortably return to that.
- Quick Tip: Check in monthly to ensure your choice continues supporting your music and personal goals.

YOUR JOURNEY CONTINUES

Whichever path you pick, stay flexible, curious, and true to yourself. The goal is clarity—musically and personally.

NEED EXTRA SUPPORT?

Find guides, community discussions, and daily check-ins at
www.clear30.org

FOLLOW US ON

